

Jerusalem's Light Festival Features Patients' Paintings

Children in ALYN Hospital's Inpatient Rehabilitation Department created colorful artwork for the annual cultural festival.

Above: Aisha is one of several patients undergoing rehabilitation in ALYN Hospital's Inpatient Rehabilitation Department who painted fish, whales, dogs and other animal figures onto glass plates in mid-July. Organizers of the Jerusalem Light Festival came to ALYN Hospital to explain the project to the children and distribute the art supplies.

Below: Thousands of visitors to the Jerusalem Light Festival viewed the children's paintings projected onto the outer wall of Jerusalem's Old City at Gan HaBonim.
